

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY FROM

The AFFORDABLE
CARE ACT

Being a mom isn't a pre-existing condition

Prior to the passage of the Affordable Care Act, insurance companies could deny coverage for women with pre-existing conditions like breast cancer or pregnancy, and women could be charged higher premiums simply because of their gender.

Starting in 2014, it will be illegal to deny coverage to anyone with a pre-existing condition, or charge women more than men for health insurance.

20.4
million women
with private health
insurance gained expanded preventive services with no cost-sharing in 2011.

24.7
million women
enrolled in Medicare
received preventive services
without cost-sharing in 2011.

1.1
million women
between ages 19 and 25
who would have been
uninsured have coverage
under their parent's health insurance plan.