

From: Cheng Hsiao

Subject: public access to peer reviewed research

Date: January 3, 2012 10:50:52 AM EST

To: publicaccess@ostp.gov

It requires considerable investment to maintain the highest standards for peer-reviewed scientific publication and sustainable mechanisms are required to enable this system to cooperate. This could be threatened by access policies that do not take these costs into account, and it is critically important that any new policies do not damage the publishing institutions on which the Federal Government and science depend.

cheng hsiao