I am happy to see something being done and what I have to say is summed up in this recording. Our group from the 1960s, the Peanut Butter Conspiracy, got back together to record this song and believe music to be the strong educator of the people. The song addresses the consequences of copyright infringement on the creators livelihood. If you have a way of making use of it please leave a comment on our board at : www.peanutbutterconspiracy.com with your idea for it's use and how to contact you. The song is copywrited.

BEST REGARDS,

ALAN BRACKETT
