Statement from OMB Director Shaun Donovan:

Budgetary Impact Analysis for Executive Order Entitled
“A Comprehensive Approach to Atrocity Prevention and Response”

This executive order would formalize the core structure, functions, and priorities of the interagency Atrocities Prevention Board, which include coordinating a whole of government approach to prevent mass atrocities and genocide. Implementing this executive order would have a de minimis impact on costs and revenues to the Federal Government. The benefits of the executive order include creating a blue print of the Board’s mandate and protocols in order to put the Administration’s atrocity prevention policy and tools on a sustainable footing into the next administration, and thereby completing a 2012 public commitment concerning such an order. Implementing this executive order would have a de minimis impact on mandatory and discretionary obligations and outlays, as well as on revenues to the Federal Government, in the 5-fiscal year period beginning in fiscal year 2015. The agencies that are anticipated to be impacted by this Executive Order are the Departments of State, the Treasury, Defense, Justice, and Homeland Security, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the Executive Office of the President.
