Statement from OMB Director Shaun Donovan:

Budgetary Impact Analysis for Executive Order Entitled “Northern Bering Climate Resilience”

This executive order will establish U.S. policy with respect to the northern Bering Sea, specifically in enhancing the resilience of the region and preserving important cultural and subsistence benefits to the people of the region. Implementing this executive order is anticipated to have a de minimis impact on costs and revenues to the Federal Government. The benefits of the executive order include supporting and sustaining subsistence practices in the northern Bering Sea through climate resilience planning. Implementing this executive order is anticipated to have a de minimis impact on mandatory and discretionary obligations and outlays, and no impact on revenues to the Federal Government, in the 5-fiscal year period beginning in fiscal year 2017. The agencies anticipated to be impacted by this executive order are the Departments of State, Defense, the Interior, Commerce, Transportation, and Homeland Security; the Environmental Protection Agency, the National Science Foundation; and the U.S. Arctic Research Commission.
